

Safety Tips for Personal Computers

Allow sufficient space around the main unit, monitor and printer for heat dissipation.

Clean the computer regularly according to the user manual.

Avoid placing the computer in a humid, dusty or hot environment, or under direct sunlight.

Switch off power if the computer is not used for a long period of time. Avoid keeping it in the standby mode (or leaving the screen saver on).

If there is abnormal sound, smell or display, or if the power switch does not work properly, stop the computer and arrange for repair.
